IF WE KNEW THEN—*WHAT WE KNOW NOW—*WE NEVER WOULD HAVE DONE THIS—*AN ECONOMIST'S OPINION OF REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

Dr. H. G. Brown, professor of economics in the University, commenting on the economic sections of the preliminary draft of the platform adopted by the Republican national convention last week, said: "The interesting thing which I first noticed is the vagueness with which they speak of the tariff. The party has always stood for a protective tariff and made it a point to raise a low tariff immediately on election. But this time the party, reaffirming its belief in a protective tariff, which is economically unsound, expresses itself so vaguely on the question as to what specific is to be done to the tariff that the voter cannot tell whether he is voting for a candidate who will leave the tariff alone for an indefinite future or for one who will seek a restoration of the high tariff of the Dingley and Aldrich days."

"In regard to the plank on the currency, deflation would undoubtedly lower the cost of living, and the present inflated currency is in major part the cause of the high cost of living. This was caused by the government's policy of borrowing to finance the war. On the other hand the United States government followed the taxation method of war finance as opposed to borrowing to a greater degree than did any other country, and to a far greater degree than did the United States itself in either the Civil War or the Spanish American War under a Republican administration. While the war was in progress Republicans in general seemed no more desirous than Democrats to extend taxation further to avoid bond issues and inflation. As to deflation, the present Federal Reserve Board appeared to be attempting deflation guardedly. Rapid deflation would be likely to cause a severe depression and might involve greater evils than the inflation."

"The labor plank is vague on the question of dealing with strikes and lockouts. Perhaps though this is necessary in the present state of public opinion and investigation on the problem.

"If the Democratic platform adopted at San Francisco should prove equally vague and unsatisfactory, the voter may be guided wholly by prejudice and sentiments of personal loyalty, confident that in casting his vote he is expressing definite opinions on few if any fundamental problems of government."

THE Y. M. C. A. VS. THE LAW

When Preacher Meets Police, Victory Is On the Side of Righteousness. "To the City Jail!"

Thirty singing, howling, trombone-toting, drumbeating Y. M. C. A. men, parading in pajamas, night-gowns and flying shirt-tails, were halted at the corner of Ninth and Broadway at 12:30 o'clock this morning by two policemen and conducted to the city jail. Preachers, school superintendents, men preparing for foreign missionary work, a poet, a Filipino, pre-authors, and men from every school and college in the University were in the party.

At 11 o'clock last night the celebration commenced in the Y. M. C. A. Building with yells from various rooms, banging on the piano, moans of Sid Hartman's trombone and the popping of fire-crackers; rhymes by Irvin Hess, and speeches by law, medical and journalist students. No speaker was allowed to address the party until his dress conformed to the "Shirt-Tail-Out" regulations placed on those who were not wearing pajamas or a night-gown. The Rev. D. S. Kelley was one of those who appeared in the required attire and spoke.

Then the group went to the "Greasy Spoon." From there the paraders formed in the line again on Ninth street for a serenading tour. Two policemen halted the march; took charge of the brigade and ordered a march to the city lock-up.

There were lawyers in the crowd who could argue, preachers who could plead, and missionaries who were ready to calm the savage police. Gus ("Bumps") Billon and R. J. Chra, a Filipino, stood on a chair belonging to the chief of police and defended the accused men. Through these appeals the department learned the real nature of the parade and agreed to a release. A serenade followed the acquittal.

The following were taken in custody. G. P. Bailey, G. C. Underhill, George James, Newton Gottschall, C. Bennett, I. McDaniel, Bernard von Hoffman, G. Hills, Irvin Hess, J. W. Hurst, I. C. Neale, P. Austin, Paul Bennett, E. H. Kolmer, H. C. Pepper, Paul Sifton, C. McCorkle, Sid Hartmann, V. C. Shurio, A. H. Eddins, Alfred Hayes, Nat Buckley, William Rowland, J. R. Lewis, Jr., B. B. Wade, George E. Simmons, P. J. Cara, Alf-do Pascual, G. C. Wright, Onie Newlon, the Rev. D. S. Kelley and W. C. Bradfield.

What Do Advertisements Mean To You?

Do you really appreciate what the advertisements mean to you? They are not there to flaunt this man's and that man's selfish plans for profit.

The advertisement of today is the honest merchant's or manufacturer's best method of multiplying by thousands of times an interesting message. He has learned from long experience of his own and that of others that what he has to say must prove interesting and satisfactory to you, else it were better unsaid. He has learned that his advertising will not pay him unless it tells you about the good things you really want to have.

That is why you will find it profitable to read the advertisements regularly. Perhaps you do. But read them with an appreciation of just what, the development of honest, truthful advertising has meant in smoothing out some of the kinks of your daily routine.

Think how much they save you in time, steps, trouble and money in buying things you must have to live a healthy, happy, comfortable modern life.
